

Introduction:

1) Hello Morgan Riley for the first question I would like for you to inform the reading audience a little information about yourself as in your education, your hobbies, and a what got you into the music industry?

Ever since I was little God gave me the desire to sing. My brother heard me and he informed my parents. Apparently my dad's mom had a beautiful voice and was a singer but unfortunately she passed away before I met her. So I started singing at weddings and anniversaries at 5 years old for friends and family. I would always get up every chance I got. I sang in choirs in school and found a local studio in MD where I grew up and I would babysit their kids for studio time. I left MD at 19 and I pursued music in NYC in an all girl group. I got a opportunity to work with a producer in NY but my journey wasn't over so I moved to SC where my parents were. I have an associates in marketing and management from Greenville Tech to learn more about marketing to help my music career.

Everything about the music industry, shooting music videos, or taking pics, song writing. I really like using my creative side. It's a great outlet for me. God and music have always been there for me.

I also love to dance so dance parties are always fun, I love listening to live music, watching movies, doing church activities, hanging with my family and friends going to sporting events and I love spending time with my pups. I am a huge animal lover

2) Morgan you have a new album out called Collage which in a graphic arts sense is an image made up of several pictures or graphic images and it is said that a picture is worth a thousand words so several images may be worth more words now with this thought in mind what words would you use to express this whole CD as a whole?

Collage is artistic, it is a compilation of several genres of music. Growing up I used to sing a little bit of everything not just country. Collage really just brought out all the different genres of music I love to sing and write. Some songs have a little more rock to them, other songs have a little more pop and one has some funk to it. Some of the songs on Collage are just country but even the ones that have different genres to them they all still have a hint of country to it. Working with my label SkyTone in Nashville and producer Frank Green really help me establish and develop the artist I am today!

3) With the term Cowboy most people would think of a cowboy on the prairie rounding up a heard of cattle back in the days now it seems as though Cowboys have become more Urban and this is apparent in your video called Rowdy Shouting Cowboy, so when I look at your video called Rowdy Shouting Cowboy what would the Rowdy Shouting Cowboy be shouting if they were in that video? And express your reasoning for your answer?

A Rowdy Shouting Cowboy

Rowdy Shoutin Cowboys was a song designed for guys and girls to just let go and have a great time dancing and partying. The shouting cowboy is definitely more urban they don't have to be on a farm or anywhere country. They are just country boys shouting at girls. The whole song idea came about when I was driving to Nashville and these country boys in a pick up truck started hollering at me saying hey what's up! Lol so the song idea happened and Frank Green brought in the rap idea which made it more urban. We tweaked it together and it became Rowdy Shoutin Cowboys.

4) Your song Don't Ask Me sounds as though it was about a specific event that came to an end and the message that really comes across in the song is that you do not want anybody to ask you about that specific event. So I am kind of inquisitive person could I ask the question how does it end?

Yes you can and the music video gives you the answer. This song is about a pissed off wife when she finds her husband cheating on her with her best friend. She follows them one night to a grave yard and she the deed herself. So the Don't Ask Me means she has a secret that she can't tell for obvious reasons. The song never really gives a way what happens that's why we give the answer in the music video. I loved the idea we came up with. It's kind of dark and gloomy with some rocking country in it!

5) I notice from your bio that you have a wide range of influences from Evanescence to Jewel who are not thought of as being country artists, with your career entrenched in the vein of Country Music could you see yourself doing another form of music like Steven Tyler of Aerosmith did when he released his country album?

I have many influences I grew up listening to lots of genres of music. I have recorded pop r&b music, pop/rock and adult contemporary music as We're All Somebody From Somewhere well as country. I love writing so I plan on Steven Tyler CD releasing lots of music to the fans that explore all that. But I will always have the country songs for the country fans. I even like writing Christian music and I love listening to it. So I plan on doing a Christian album in the future as well. If it's music I want to explore it I think broadening my horizons makes me a better artist and a songwriter.

As a journalist and radio show host I to interview a wide range of artists due to the fact more programs than a country based radio program so I get to have a wide range of guests from actors to artists, from song writers to sports celebrities in saying that there are certain guests that I would like to interview like Melissa Etheridge and a journalist known as George Stroumboulopoulos.

George Stroumboulopoulos
CBC Tonight Show

Which brings up this question what Journalist would you like to be interviewed by and give the reason why?

I don't have a favorite journalist I would gladly be interviewed by anyone to help me grow my music and build my fan base. I would love to be on good morning America or be chosen to be on Ellen or Kelly, Oprah it would be a huge blessing. I have seen several artists on those shows and it just seems so chill and fun. They seem to really care about their guests. I think it would be an awesome experience and awesome promotion. Lol but I am not picky I am grateful that radio hosts and journalists want to know about my music. So sign me up for it all

6) A friend of mine DJ Nik who is the host of The Whiskey and Cigarettes Country Radio Show mentioned that you won W&C's Best Female Artist Award! This is quite an honor from the aspect of so many other female artists that are involved in Country Music. In your own thoughts what other female artists would you consider voting a female artist of the year and explain your answer for our reading audience. I must congratulate you upon that achievement as well!

My favorite female country artist is Carrie Underwood. She has really reinvented herself as an artist and I actually forget sometimes that American Idol started her career. I just think she is super talented and I love that she continues to show how much she loves the Lord and Jesus is her life. She has stayed with her beliefs no matter how much success or fame she has and I just admire her for that. I just love her music there hasn't been one song that I didn't like.

life. She has stayed with her beliefs no matter how much success or fame she has and I just admire her for that. I just love her music there hasn't been one song that I didn't like.

7) The song "It Wasn't Me" has a very interesting topic that those words are usually used by someone that is disclaiming an incident that happened in life now this can be used as a fact of innocence in a criminal act to a child being blamed for something that they may have done, As the song writer can you draw a comparison in your thoughts about this thought and tell the reading audience actually what this song is about?

Shot from Video “It Wasn't Me”

It wasn't me is about a relationship. They had their good moments she thought it was love and he was the one she was going to marry but he left her and broke her heart. She questioned it but than realized it was him who made promises and than gave up

8) Judging by your tour schedule on your website you have quite a list of dates primarily in South Carolina, Do you have anywhere in particular that you would like to perform and give the reason why you would like to perform at that particular venue?

I will take any opportunity as I can get as an artist. We have played several places outside of SC. TN, NE, Ok, GA, Just recently we played The North State Florida Fair. My main goal as an artist now is to get on tour as an opening act for some major artists to help build my fan base. But I know I have made it when I make my debut on the Grand Ole Opry stage. That's definitely one of my goals.
